3. INTRODUCTION

2015 turned out to be a remarkable year for theatrical releases in South African cinema industry, which saw an impressive growth of 36% given the price hike on cinema tickets by all exhibitors. Cinemas in South Africa typically see price increases, with Ster-Kinekor and Times Media implementing an increase in ticket prices every year due to economic volatilities.

A number of local films were well received by the international audience. Local Afrikaans film Die Windpomp (The Windmill) won the Audience Award for Best Foreign Film at the 2015 Long Beach International Film Festival in New York, competing against over 50 internationally acclaimed films. Thina Sobabili won the coveted Audience Choice Award at the Pan African Film Festival (PAFF) 2015, which took place in Los Angeles. Necktie Youth, another local drama won both the best South African feature award and the international jury award for best director "Sibs Shongwe-La Mer", at the Durban International Film Festival (DIFF). Miners Shot Down continues to garner international recognition. The film won the Best Documentary at the International Emmy and was supported by the National Film and Video Foundation

Furthermore, South Africa has become steadily more popular in recent years as an international filming location. The country continues to meet its growing international demand for its attractive locations. Few of the feature films shot locally that were released in cinemas are as follows:

- Avengers: Age of Ultron was one of the most anticipated titles this year which had few scenes shot in Johannesburg inner city and Sandton area;
- Mad Max Fury Road another moderate hit at the box office which had scenes shot at our Cape Town film studios;
- Chappie a science fiction film directed by South African Neill Blomkamp was shot in Johannesburg inner city and in other parts of Soweto.

4. Box Office Trends

4.1 YEAR-ON-YEAR GROSS BOX OFFICE

This year saw record breaking results at the box office. Box office revenues recorded a solid upward trend with all theatrical revenues adding up to R1 198 billion in 2015 only. This is the consumer spending directly related to cinema sales. The results are for all 243 films were released in South Africa, which is 15 more than the previous year (2014). This year has shown remarkable growth of 36% at box office revenues from R880 million to R1 198 billion, this is depicted in the figure 1 below.

4.2 DOMESTIC GROSS BOX OFFICE (SA FILMS ONLY)

Locally produced films also performed significantly well and accounted for R69 million of the year-on-year gross box office which was a good improvement given the fact that there was ticket price hike in 2015 by exhibitors. Ster-Kinekor increased its movie ticket price by a range of 5% to 16%, while price changes at Nu Metro varied between 0% and 10.5% depending on which cinema you visit<sup>1</sup>. Thus, with only 22 theatrical productions released in 2015, local films had a prominent rise of 25% from R55 million in 2014 to R69 million.

4.4 CORRELATION MATRIX

The statistic data shows that, a film that enjoys a strong opening with an aggressive marketing campaign may yield higher revenues, not forgetting to take into account the number of screens allocated to the films. The higher the number of screens, the larger the audience. Looking at the figure 3 below, the graph is fairly stable showing a strong correlation between gross box office at release and cumulative box office. Highest points were noted in February (R127 million), April (R176 million), June (R123 million) and December (R121 million) where those months recorded higher gross. These include the popular release of Fifty Shades of Grey, SpongeBob Squarepants 2 (February), Fast & Furious 7, Avengers & Cinderella (April), Jurassic World, Inside Out (June), and Star Wars in December which performed very well.

4.10 DOMESTIC FILMS (SA ONLY)

The 3 local films that performed well at box office were Schuks! Pay Back the Money, Ballade vir 'n Enkeling and Mooirivier. Schuks! Pay back the money took the first spot earning R17.6 million. However, SA's number one prankster film producer did not attract a lot of audiences this year especially in comparison with previous Leon Schuster movies that usually gross over R25 million (looking back since 2010). The second highest grossing film was Ballade vir 'n Enkelling earning R9.9 million, Mooirivier earned itself R7.2 million at third place.

4.11 INDIGENOUS LANGUAGE (LOCAL CONTENT)

Afrikaans films were the most popular accounting for 14 titles released and taking 65% of the gross (R45 million). There was only one film in Afrikaans/English which was Shcuks! Pay Back the Money earning R17.6 million (25%). IsiZulu/English language followed in the third place earning R4.2 (6%) million, those included the likes of Tell Me Sweet Something, Ayanda and Hear Me Move.

4.12 GROSS BOX OFFICE SPLIT BY FILM FORMAT

The digital 3D movies is on demand, with many of the latest animated films, action and sci-fi movies being presented with a third-dimension (3D). Some movies theaters offer both in 3D and IMAX format. IMAX draws you into something as close to reality as you have ever experienced. Growth in digital 3D screens in 2015 continues, compared to the standard format (usually called classic 2D), 35 films had a 3D & IMAX format claiming 45% of the gross, while standard format accounted for 55%.

Another development is the imminent arrival of '4DX' cinemas, after an agreement was reached between Nu Metro and CJ 4DPlex. The cinemas, which use synchronized effects such as vibration, wind and lightning to enhance the viewing experience, will be installed in selected Nu Metro theatres<sup>3</sup>. In spite of ticket prices costing as much as R110 each (as opposed to around R40 for classic 2D), the three new IMAX complexes have been experiencing big success. Star Wars: The Force Awakens was released in 3D, IMAX and 4DX and has seen strong results.

5. CONCLUSION

The cinema industry in South Africa will continue to see steady growth. This is in spite of ticket price hike. The rise will help box office revenues to increase year-on-year. A movie that "does well at the box office" attracts many people and generates a good amount of revenue. However, this will also hit hard on consumer pockets as the economy is currently not doing well.

The role of distributors and exhibitors in supporting local films has been on the spot light after local romantic comedy "Tell Me Sweet Something" had screens reduced from 47 to 27 screens in its third week after what has been argued as a successful run for local films. This move prompted the Minister of Arts and Culture to call an Imbizo (stakeholder engagement) to look into the distribution of local films and establish a distribution forum to ensure that local content enjoys much more exposure like their international counterparts. Ongoing engagements between the NFVF, government stakeholders and players in the distribution and exhibition are to come up with concrete plans to support local films.

A persistent comment is that audiences in the townships don't have access to cinemas (with many cinemas being located in upmarket shopping malls, although others have pointed out that the likes of Maponya Mall, Parrow and Promenade are within reach), and couldn't afford the admission price even if they did. This needs to be looked at because as ticket price rises this makes it even more difficult for them. Distributors and exhibitors have tried to address this problem by reducing ticket prices in less affluent areas, for example theaters like Calton Centre and Sterland are priced differently compared to cinemas in upmarket malls.
